There being no more business the meeting proceeded to the guest speakers

Guest Speaker

Mr. Tony Funk of VSA Enterprises introduced a new product from Over Air Barriers for outside walls. This new product is for outside lights and outlets that will be mounted to the surface of the wall (before the finish is applied but the vapour barrier has been installed). The only penetration will be the wire to the box and can easily be sealed. Tony demonstrated how the system will work. The cost (which is always on peoples minds) is higher to Electrical Contractors than the system now in use but is lees expensive to the general contractor and has a better water tight seal. There were some questions from the floor on the devices (boxes) and where are they available and was answered by Tony. Another question was what were they built for Lights and outlets was the answer with more designs to come. There was a question raised on who will be responsible for the approval of the system after inspection. There was no answer at this time.

British Columbia Electrical Association (BCEA) Membership Chair Ms Betty Lou Pacey introduced their new mandate to hold a trade show every 3 years. There will be information coming at the beginning of November but it will be held at the Pacific Coliseum and to check their web site for more information

Mr. Ted Simmons did a power point presentation on the new Code (in the 2012 edition) Section 64, Renewable Energy Systems and the meaning of the rules with explanations and diagrams (there was a hand out of the printed version of the power point given to everyone that attended). Many questions were asked from the floor on section 64 as they were presented by the power point. This was a very valuable presentation for everyone and especially for those that will be designing and installing the systems in the future. Although the presentation had to be ended before the section was finished everyone had a good understanding of the section. We look forward to another presentation in the future.

The meeting was called back to order at 8:55 and the draw for the free dinner was made. It was won by Brian Cook.

Being no further business there was a motion by Rick Porcina and seconded by Len Rhodes to adjourn the meeting. The motion passed and the meeting adjourned
